

Goals of Revising Scheduling Grid

Based on a set of guidelines provided for redistributing time-slot usage throughout each day and the week, the following goals should be achieved:

1. Greater choice and flexibility for students when creating their schedules each semester,
2. Greater spread of course offerings across all days and times of the week, therefore diminishing the ever-increasing higher demand for room usage on the campus during prime-time,
3. Increased usage of campus facilities on Fridays, which will improve student campus life on Fridays.

Scheduling Grid Guidelines

The following guidelines refer to daytime classes (8:00 am to 4:50 pm):

- Daytime classes should adhere to the established meeting times: 8:00-9:20, 9:30-10:50, 11:00-12:20, 2:00-3:20, 3:30-4:50.
- All classes should begin at established starting times. (Of necessity, the class meetings of regular three-hour courses will also end at established ending times, but labs, studio classes, and other traditionally long-format classes may be expected to run past normal ending times.)
- On any day, up to 65 percent of daytime classes may meet during the prime-time meeting times: 9:30-10:50, 11:00-12:20, 2:00-3:20.
- On any day, up to 25 percent of daytime classes may meet during any one of the five daytime meeting times.
- Up to 85 percent of the week's daytime classes may meet between Monday and Thursday.
- Up to 25 percent of the week's daytime classes may meet on any one day of the week.

In general, the number of daytime classes scheduled may not exceed the number of daytime classes that actually ran in the prior fall term (for fall classes) or in the prior spring term (for spring classes). Overall, the number of classes scheduled should also not exceed the number authorized by the department's credit-bank allocation.
